

53 Yes. The calculation of a cube root requires the input of a real number. It produces a single output. A number has only one cube root.