

49 This sequence is arithmetic since the points lie on a line (and are evenly spaced). Since the sequence is decreasing the common difference must be negative. The slope of the line passing through these points is -1 , so the common difference is $d = -1$.